COMPARISON OF TECHNIQUES & MECHANICS NCAA/PAVO AND USA VOLLEYBALL 2009-2010

	NCAA/PAVO	USA Volleyball
1. Referee signal sequence	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If the fault is whistled by the first referee, the first referee indicates the nature of the fault, the player at fault if necessary, and then which team scores and serves next by extending the arm in the direction of the team that will serve (palm perpendicular to floor). All signals are immediately repeated by the second referee (except net serve and service beckon). If the fault is whistled by the second referee, the second referee will signal the nature of the fault and the player at fault if necessary, which the first referee repeats. The first referees then indicates which team scores and serves next, and the second referee repeats that signal. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If the fault is whistled by the first referee, the first referee indicates which team wins the rally by extending the arm in the direction of the team that will serve (palm perpendicular to floor), then the nature of the fault and the player at fault if necessary. All signals are repeated by the second referee (except net serve and service beckon). If the fault is whistled by the second referee, the second referee will indicate the nature of the fault and the player at fault if necessary. The first referee then indicates which team scores and serves next and the second referee repeats that signal. The first referee does not signal the fault or player at fault.
2. Second referee position at end of rally	When the second referee's whistle ends a rally, s/he should step to the offending team's side of the net, and signal the fault. If the first referee's whistle ends the rally, step to either side of the net pole to immediately repeat the first referee's fault signal.	When the second referee's whistle ends a rally, s/he should step to the offending team's side of the net and signal the fault. When the first referee's whistle ends the rally, it is recommended (but not required) that the second referee steps to the offending team's side of the net to repeat the signals of the first referee.
3. Illegal attack signal	Place the arm on the offending team's side to the side of the body at head height, elbow bent at a right angle, and then make a forward and downward motion with one arm from the shoulder with the forearm and hand. Indicate the player at fault if necessary by pointing with an open hand.	Completely extend the arm straight up, hand open, on the offending team's side, and make a downward motion over the net, palm down. Indicate the player at fault if necessary by pointing with an open hand.
4. Illegal block/screening signal	Raise both hands to the side at head height, elbows bent at right angles, palms facing away from body.	Completely extend both arms straight up from the shoulders (elbows are not bent), palms facing away from the body.
5. Second referee "ready" signal	Traditionally indicated by extending one hand/arm toward first referee and making eye contact.	Traditionally indicated by holding both hands in front of body at head height, palms toward first referee, making eye contact with the first referee.
6. Signal for same player making 3 rd and 4 th team contact	Signal "four hits".	Signal "double contact".
7. Indication of which player(s) contacted the net	Referee calling the net fault indicates the number of the player(s) at fault to other referee; the other referee repeats the number.	Indicate the player at fault by pointing with an open hand.

8. Timeout administration	Teams not required to leave court; timeout may be held anywhere in the facility except the opponent's team area. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Second referee whistles 15 seconds prior to the end of the timeout if teams have not re-taken court. • Teams may re-take court at any time; timeout may end early if both teams are ready to play. 	Teams are not required to leave the court and go to the bench area. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Second referee whistles at end of 30 seconds. • Teams may re-take court prior to expiration of time-out, unless necessary for court to remain clear; however, time-out will not end early.
9. Roster verification	Rosters not utilized, although referees still visually review team uniforms and player numbers for legality.	Rosters verified pre-match by scorekeeper, assisted by second referee. Both referees visually review uniforms for legality.
10. Improper request technique	Without card, hold palm of one hand against the opposite wrist. Second referee communicates to a coach at the end of the rally.	"Wave off" request with one hand/arm. Second referee communicates to coach (or first referee to captain) at earliest opportunity, without delaying the match.
11. Line judge position during timeouts	At intersection of attack line & sideline, near first referee.	At midpoint of respective end line.
12. Line judge position when server is within one meter of line judge's position	At the first referee's direction, the line judge may take a position along either the sideline or the end line extension until service contact. Line judge will quickly return to base position at corner.	Line judge will take a position behind the server along the extension of the sideline until contact of the serve. Line judge will then quickly return to base position at corner.
13. Substitutions by both teams on same dead ball.	Second referee whistles to acknowledge first request, and may administer both teams' substitutions without repeating the whistle (unless necessary).	Second referee should whistle to acknowledge first request and repeat the whistle to administer the second team's request also.
14. Referee technique at end of set preceding extended intermission.	Dismiss teams to their benches.	Referee signals for teams to change courts after each set.
15. First/second referee duties	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • First referee controls player conduct during the pre-match warm-ups.
